and human trafficking and helping them stay free*

Destiny  Rescue®
RESCUING CHILDREN

A Letter From
Kirk Falconer
CEO, Destiny Rescue USA

We have a triage mindset at Destiny Rescue. Sexual violence against kids far outweighs our capacity to help. Seeing kids in child-led homes selling themselves to eat demands a triage mindset. In 2022, we narrowed our focus and precious limited resources to help the most kids, and it broadened our impact. The question remains, “How can we help them swim for their lives, not become Olympic swimmers?”

Every child is unique, and so is her path to freedom. In 2022, we focused more than ever on personalizing her Freedom Plan™. What is enough to keep her free? A triage mindset means our case workers preferred Community Care over Residential Care, and it multiplied our impact, allowing us to care for more kids than ever before.

Every rescue project is unique, and so is its best rescue and freedom model. A triage mindset changes the strategy. In 2022, our teams committed to a strategy of increasing collaboration with local partners—such as churches and mission organizations—in high-vulnerability areas. We also committed to our strategy of adapting our model to each local situation. I was blessed this year to witness churches in slums become excellent at rescuing kids and keeping them free. I wish you could see it with your own eyes—it warms my heart.

Lastly, together, we rescued more victims than ever before. We had over 5,000 donors in the USA make this possible. You are the unsung heroes of her Freedom Plan™. On behalf of young girls and other survivors who are striving for economic freedom—the freedom to choose—thank you!

Praying with you,
